

Easy organizing tips for the hallway

Press Release
2022-01-31

For many, the hallway is a rather tricky room. It's the first impression you'll have of a home. However, it's often less prioritised and therefore ends up unorganized and uninspiring. Beginning the new year by organizing the hallway is a great way to reduce stress and instead create prerequisites for a more harmonious everyday life. Essem Design wants to give their foremost tips on how to easily go from a chaos to a neatly looking hallway.

New year and a restart. The new year is a great reminder of decluttering and organizing in the home. For many, the hallway gets less thoughts and care compared to other rooms which makes it easy for the room to end up in a mess. The structure in the hallway is crucial in order to remain a neat and decent arrangement of the outerwear as well as loose objects such as keys and mails.

Review the hallway's storage units

Going through your storage spaces is a great first step towards a more organized hallway. Is there actually enough storage units for all your belongings? If not, this is the first aspect to restore. There's many ways to create more room for storage; add baskets on top of the hat rack, add additional hooks or other wall storing units.

Labelling and categorisation

To achieve a structured hallway in the longer run it's important that all objects have an intended place. Labelling and categorisation of your belongings will help you remaining the functionality of the hallway. We highly recommend assigning individual storage units to all the family's members; for instance having your own hook or your own shelf in the closet.

Store your belongings seasonally

The new year is here and shortly spring is arriving. Entering a new season is a great reminder of organizing your hallway and to make sure that you'll only keep in-season attire out. The things you use on a daily basis can preferably be stored out on the racks. However, the rest of your belongings are better stored in a closed closet or in storage boxes.

Go through, organize and declutter

To ease the everyday life, the things you use on a daily basis should be easily accessible, the rest can be stored away. This will give the hallway a more harmonious and spacious impression. To store things packed in boxes requires less space and will give more space to the everyday belongings.
